Our history, our family...

... our people, our team.

Our History

With a rich history spanning over five decades, Werribee Steel has solidified its place as a beloved local institution in the vibrant community of Werribee, Victoria. The story begins in 1967 when a passionate husband and wife duo, Aldo and Adriana Cannizzaro, embarked on a remarkable journey to establish their own business. They started as Werribee Stakkatainers, laying the foundation for what would become a legacy of excellence in steel fabrication.

Driven by their unwavering dedication and entrepreneurial spirit, Aldo and Adriana poured their hearts and souls into growing their business. Their commitment to quality craftsmanship and exceptional service quickly gained recognition, and Werribee Stakkatainers became a trusted name among their valued customers. The couple's strong family values resonated with their clients, fostering a sense of trust and loyalty that would endure for generations to come.

In 1994, their son Robert Cannizzaro joined the team working closely with his dad. In 2016 he took the helm and steered the company into a new era of expansion and innovation. Recognizing the evolving needs of the industry and the growing demand for steel solutions, Robert re-branded the business as Werribee Steel. This strategic move not only represented a fresh chapter in the company's history but also signaled its transformation into a leading steel fabricator and supplier in the region.

Despite its growth and success, Werribee Steel has always stayed true to its roots. The warmth and familiarity of a family-run business permeate every aspect of the company's operations. From the friendly greetings exchanged with every customer to the genuine care and attention given to each project, Werribee Steel remains committed to delivering the same personal touch that Aldo and Adriana instilled from the beginning.

As Werribee Steel continues to thrive and expand, it carries forward the legacy of its founders, a testament to their vision, hard work, and unwavering determination. Today, the name Werribee Steel evokes not only a trusted provider of steel fabrication but also a cherished symbol of a family's enduring love for their craft and the community they proudly serve.
